Invitation from President of SARPS

It is a matter of immense pleasure to welcome you all to 8th SARPS at Dhaka. This is a great opportunity to meet pain physicians across South Asian Countries, as we share common geographical, economical & cultural backgrounds & have common goals to attend in patient care in general and pain management in particular. Pain medicine is comparatively young but a fast evolving science; however, recently, it has rapidly gained acceptability as an essential and independent specialty in the West as well as in SAARC countries. In keeping with these rapid strides, it is essential to translate the scientific advances to our day-to-day practice of interventional pain management which should be efficient as well as cost effective to the people of SAARC countries. SARPS has made tremendous progress in last one decade. The success of 5th, 6th & 7th SARPS is benchmark in history of any event organized to learn pain. There is a regular representation of members of pain societies from each of seven SAARC countries.

I am sure, 8th SARPS will take our endeavour of spreading knowledge of pain and sharing of experience of pain practice forward, which will ultimately relieve sufferings of our patients.

I wish Dr A K M Akhtaruzzaman & team the best for the success of this most important event of all South Asian Chapters of Pain!

Dr Geeta Joshi

President South Asian Regional Pain Society
President Elect, Indian Society for The Study of Pain

Invitation from Congress Committee

We, on behalf of Bangladesh Society for Study of Pain (BSSP), invite you to participate 8th SARPS Congress on Pain to be held in Dhaka, Bangladesh on 24-25th February 2018.

The congress will be an attractive one, being attended by specialists of multiple disciplines dealing with the management of pain, which includes post-operative pain, cancer pain, traumatic pain, neurological pain, labour pain and chronic pain of all origins. Speakers from home and abroad have already agreed to deliver interesting lectures on various aspects. We hope, those who will participate will share and exchange knowledge on recent developments of pain management. Special lectures, seminars on special topics, poster session have been arranged. Sponsored lectures are also included.

Besides scientific sessions, various social events including opening ceremony, banquet, closing ceremony, complimentary city tour have been arranged.

It is expected that the interested physicians will avail this opportunity to participate in 8th SARPS Congress on Pain in Bangladesh.

Looking forward to seeing you in Dhaka in 24-25th February 2018.

Dr Lutful Aziz
Congress President

Prof AKM Akhtaruzzaman
